

Storm Janse van Rensburg

Research Interest

Contemporary art curator and advisor, collaborating with artists, institutions, collectors and galleries. Based in Berlin, Germany, the scope of my research and projects are international, with specific knowledge of and interest in contemporary African Art. I also have an interest in contemporary art practices from the Middle East.

Other areas of research (seemingly divergent, but somehow connected for me) include South African photography, queer studies, visual studies, performance and design, and the impact of a growing international market for contemporary African art.